200MW + 100MW Sistema italiano de almacenamiento de energía en batería BESS

Esta inversión estratégica, con una capacidad sustancial de 200 MW de potencia combinada con 100 MWh de almacenamiento de energía, representa un gran paso adelante en la creación de una red eléctrica italiana más flexible, fiable y sostenible.

Estratégicamente situada en Calabria -una región con un alto potencial de generación de energía renovable-, esta instalación BESS está diseñada para ser una pieza fundamental de la infraestructura energética nacional. Al almacenar el exceso de energía generada por fuentes intermitentes como la solar y la eólica, el sistema mejorará la estabilidad de la red, gestionará los periodos de máxima demanda y permitirá una mayor integración de las energías limpias en la red.
